

Good Afternoon PCSD Staff,

As you know, the bond proposal failed in the election process last night. In moving forward, we need to engage our stakeholders at a greater level to create a deeper understanding of the needs of our students. We understand many of you have concerns and questions are being asked, like “What next?” and “How does this affect me?”

We remain focused upon student learning, specifically proficiency of English Language Arts for all students, which begins during early childhood. Our plans for all day kindergarten continue with implementation starting next school year.

Our district has programming needs that impact facilities, grade realignment, and most importantly, high quality education for all of our students.

We are approaching budget season and capital project requests. It will be necessary to carefully examine priorities and timelines to ensure that we are using district resources wisely.

Please direct your questions, concerns, and ideas to your building level administrator or director. We look forward to collaborating with you and working to address the needs of our students.

Ember Conley, EdD
Superintendent
Park City School District